ABOUT US

Luigi's Wines is a dedicated importer of Italian wines, with a carefully selected portfolio of wineries from different regions of Italy. We like working with passionate farmers and winemakers who are dedicated to the native wine grapes of their regions and determined to express the virtues of their local wines with authenticity and quality.

We personally seek out and follow the wineries and vineyards we work with to understand the people, the style, and the commitment behind these wines. Rather than pursuing the latest trends and self-anointed 'cult' producers, we prefer to work with wineries who have a strong local reputation and who have worked consistently for many vintages, making quality yet authentic wines that reflect the place and the conditions of the growing season. We believe in building long term relationships with them, following the wines and winemaking as they develop and fine tune through the years.

We sincerely hope that our selection, or any bottle of good Italian wine for that matter, can transport you to the magnificent landscape and warm, passionate people of this magical country - full of history, character and the artisan spirit.

Always on the wine trail

FIorenZO NADA

There are still small-scale, humble, family-run estates to be found within Barbaresco who nevertheless operate at a very high level, and Nada Fiorenzo perfectly exemplifies this. The Nada family makes pure, red-fruited and floral wines with a vibrant acidity and minty pine-like flavours typical of Treiso.

Wines:	Type	Price
Fiorenzo Nada "Manzola" Barbaresco 2020	Red	$110
Fiorenzo Nada "Rombone" Barbaresco 2020	Red	$135
Fiorenzo Nada "Rombone" Barbaresco 2019	Red	$125

Fiorenzo Nada "Montaribaldi" Barbaresco 2019	Red	$125

Danilo Nada, making vibrant, energetic Barbaresco in Treiso.

The Cigliuti family, the first to bottle single vineyard Barbaresco from Serraboella.

CIGLIUTI

In Cigliuti we have another family winery on the eastern side of the Neive township, where the wines are generally more rich, fleshy, and powerful. Often flying under the radar due to their small production, Cigliuti's wines can be approachable young but are generally meant to age, in particular the wines from their prized Serraboella vineyard.

Wines:	Type	Price
Cigliuti Langhe Chardonnay 2019	White	$72
Cigliuti "Campass" Barbera d'Alba 2023	Red	$64
Cigliuti "Bricco di Neive, Vie Erte" Barbaresco 2021	Red	$105

CANTINA DEL PINO

Renato Vacca is part of a family steeped in Barbaresco history so it was quite significant when he left the cooperative Produttori del Barbaresco and venture out on his own in 1997. The quality of the wines speak for themselves, with a clean and fresh style, precise in expression yet structured and complex.

Natale Simonetta of Cascina Baricchi.

CASCINA BARICCHI

Natale Simonetta is one of those somewhat idiosyncratic winemakers with his own style and ideas. He has a Barbaresco made from 100% Nebbiolo Rosé (biotype) that is at once rich and expressive, a 15-year release Barbaresco Riserva, a Timorasso wine aged for nine years in used barrels, as well as a sparkling Moscato made partially from iced grapes dedicated to his mother, among other things.

Wines:

	Type	Price
Cascina Baricchi "Rose della Casasse" Barbaresco Ris. 2017	Red	$135
Cascina Baricchi "Quindicianni" Barbaresco Ris. 2008	Red	$210

NORTHERN ITALY > PIEDMONT > DOGLIANI

CHIONETTI

CHIONETTI

Dolcetto can pose quite the conundrum; a historically popular local wine that is nevertheless difficult to grow (fragile buds, poor vigour) to vinify (reductive) but there are villages and producers who are dedicated to doing justice to this variety. One of the most established in the Dogliani zone, Chionetti makes exemplary Dolcetto that is fruity and crunchy with a characteristic tannic finish.

Wines:	Type	Price
Chionetti "San Luigi" Dogliani Dolcetto 2022/2024	Red	$44
Chionetti "Briccolero" Dogliani Dolcetto 2023	Red	$50

CRIVELLI

Azienda Agricola
Crivelli

A familiar narrative in Italian wine is that of a wine (or food for that matter) that exists in only one or a few villages, kept alive or revived from extinction due to one individual's passion. This is the story of Marco Crivelli and the Ruché wine in Castagnole Monferrato, near the town of Asti. While the Ruché is definitely worth seeking out with its expressive floral and baking spice flavours, Crivelli's Grignolino is also noteworthy and a charming, food-friendly wine in its own right.

Wines:	Type	Price
Crivelli Ruché di Castagnole Monferrato 2022	Red	$58
Crivelli Grignolino d'Asti 2022	Red	$52	Low stock

ELIO PERRONE

ELIO PERRONE

Widely recognised as one of a handful of top Moscato d'Asti producers, Elio Perrone shows the heights Moscato d'Asti is capable of scaling in the right hands. A dedicated specialist in Moscato and Barbera, the two main grape varieties in Asti, Perrone's wines emphasise freshness, round, vibrant fruit and fantastic drinkability.

Wines:	Type	Price
Elio Perrone "Tasmorcan" Barbera d'Asti 2024	Red	$44
Elio Perrone "Mongovone" Barbera d'Asti Sup. 2022	Red	$69

Giovanni Scaglione in the vineyards of Loazzolo, land of old Moscato vines and a pristine, wildlife oasis.

FORTETO DELLA LUJA

A small winery in one of Italy's smallest DOCs, Loazzolo, Forteto della Luja is a producer dedicated to sustainable practices, walking the talk with solar panels, a manual press and two horses on the estate, as well as a backyard that is a designated WWF biodiversity oasis, well before sustainability became fashionable. The wines come from steep, high altitude (400-500m) vineyards and are traditional in style, with restrained fruit and a classical purity and elegance.

Wines:	Type	Price
Forteto "Le Grive" Monferrato Rosso 2022	Red	$64	Low stock
Forteto "Pian dei Sogni" Piemonte Brachetto 2022 (375ml)	Sweet	$48

CASCINA LIETO

Cascina Lieto is the passionate project of Hiroto and Rei Sasaki in Castiglione Tinella, in the heart of Piedmont's Moscato country. Hiroto has worked in food and wine in Italy for over 20 years and counts the Damijan Podversic family as close friends. He has a meticulous yet intuitive approach to work in the vineyard and cellar, resulting in original but harmonious wines, bringing together the concepts of farming with respect for nature, skin-macerated white wine techniques, the harnessing of Moscato's aromatic power as well as the spirit of Japanese craftsmanship.

Wines:

LE PIANELLE

The Alto Piemonte wine region is currently experiencing a revival of interest, thanks to the efforts of people like Cristiano Garella, a young oenologist who is one of the figureheads of this movement. Cristiano consults for over a dozen wineries in the area and often communicates the history and terroir of this area, speaking of things like super-volcanoes, acidic PH soils and the beauty of the Vespolina variety. Le Pianelle is a relatively new project, piecing together old vineyards parcel by parcel but their Bramaterra wine is worthy of attention, a Nebbiolo-based wine from red porphyry sandy soils of volcanic origin.

Wines:	Type	Price
Le Pianelle "Al Posto Dei Fiori" Rosato 2021	Pink	$52

COLOMBERA & GARELLA

At Colombera & Garella, Cristiano Garella works with his long-time friend Giacomo Colombera and his family, farming nine and a half hectares in the Masserano district at the meeting point of the Lessona and Bramaterra zones. The farming here is sustainable with no chemicals used, while winemaking is honest and straightforward, with the intention to express the character of the vineyard and the native varieties planted here.

NORTHERN ITALY > LOMBARDY > VALTELLINA

ARPEPE

We are in the northern valley of Valtellina, another frontier of Nebbiolo where the wines are lighter but with an alpine freshness and particular spicy, mineral flavours. Within this small and closely-knit appellation, ArPePe stand out for their consistent quality and careful attention to detail, notably in giving their wines, especially the single vineyard Riservas, gentle, extended ageing in large wooden casks to best express the ethereal, delicate qualities of this terroir.

Wines:	Type	Price

NALS MARGREID

Alto Adige (in Italian) aka Südtirol (in German) is a special landscape both extreme and beautiful – full of glacial valleys, steep mountainous slopes and a great diversity of rock soils. The varieties planted here are mostly of French and Germanic origin, with Pinot Bianco surprisingly the hero of the region and of exceptional quality. We love the fresh acidity, beautiful purity and clean minerality of these wines.

DAMIJAN PODVERSIĆ

Damijan Podversic is one of the most respected winemakers of the amber wine movement in the Gorizian hills of Friuli. There is a great sensitivity and attention here, with respect to growing cycle of the vines and decisions in the cellar. The focus here is on skin-macerated wines from local grapes, with long macerations followed by long ageing in large Slavonian oak casks.

VAL DELLE CORTI

We love the different expressions of Sangiovese in Chianti Classico and here in Radda in Chianti, thanks to the cooler exposures and high altitude of Val delle Corti's vineyards, we have quite distinctively floral and elegant wines made in a fresh, clean and juicy style.

CASTELL'IN VILLA

One of the legendary names in Chianti Classico, thanks to their traditional, uncompromising style of Sangiovese as well as the fastidiousness of owner Principessa Coralia. The style here, quite typical of Castelnuovo Berardenga, is earthy and quite dense, juxtaposing a soft, elegant richness with Sangiovese's prickly tannins.

Tiberio, putting Abruzzo on the map for wine lovers across the world.

CENTRAL ITALY > ABRUZZO

TIBERIO

Cristiana and Antonio Tiberio are now well-established among the Abruzzo 'new wave' producers thanks to their tireless work in promoting the region and making fresh, precise wines from massal selections and old vines of native grapes. Of particular note are their single vineyard wines that are shining examples of the quality and inimitable style possible in this region beyond the previous status quo.

SOUTHERN ITALY > BASILICATA

ELENA FUCCI

We believe the world should be drinking more Aglianico and Elena Fucci's gorgeous wines from Basilicata would be the best way to start! Their Titolo Aglianico del Vulture comes from beautiful terroir of Barile, 600 metres in altitude, on volcanic soils. Traditional farming in the vineyards with a progressive approach in the cellar result in clean, deep and complex wines, with fresh, modern fruit expression and well-integrated oak.
